A Markov chain is a stochastic model describing a sequence of possible events in which the probability of each event depends only on the state attained in the previous event. A countably infinite sequence, in which the chain moves state at discrete time steps, gives a discrete-time Markov chain (DTMC). A continuous-time process is called a continuous-time Markov chain (CTMC).

David Kopp, professor and associate dean, Adrian Dominican school of education, Barry University . The best piece of advice I could give an instructor who would be teaching his/her first online course is to ensure you've gotten the proper training to teach online! That is, it's important to appreciate the notion that just because you may be an effective face-to-face instructor does not ...
