My primary writing project during the past year has been to write a memoir. Being new to the genre, I started by publishing my father's memoir, enrolled in an online writing course, read numerous writing books, and reviewed a few good memoirs. Stephen King's book, On Writing: A Memoir of the Craft, touches on each of these activities.

Writing a memoir isn't for the faint of heart. It requires bravery, unflinching honesty, and the ability to turn your life lessons into universal truths. Most mere mortals can't write a compelling memoir-- but that's not due to lack of material. It's because few people, writers included, understand the mechanics of non-fiction storytelling. How do you write about something that ...
